Children of Nations:

This is a local group with national and international connections which buys food, then prepares meal serving packages, then boxes the meal serving packages, then fills a shipping container with the boxed packages, and finally ships same to needy orphans and destitute children world-wide. Nearly all labor is volunteer, only the food materials, boxes, and shipping requires cash donations to keep the system going. Whenever possible, the group uses military transport planes to ship the food containers at least part of the way.
